OHA 355: Walter Reed Army Medical Center Historical Collection

Date of Records: 1916-Present

Size: 34 Boxes; 20 linear feet

Finding Aid: By Joan Redding (7/28/97); Updated by Kathleen Stocker (2/1/10); Revised by Eric W. Boyle (8/30/13)

Access and Use: The Otis Historical Archives is committed to providing open access to its collections as far as possible within the limits of privacy and confidentiality. Access to this collection is at the discretion of the Otis Historical Archives and material contained within the records may be subject to review before access is granted.

Background Information: Named after Major Walter Reed, the Army surgeon who discovered the cause of yellow fever, the Walter Reed General Hospital opened in 1909. After the Army Medical School, Army Dental School, Army School of Nursing, and other training facilities were established near the hospital, the campus became the Army Medical Center in 1923. In 1951, the 100th anniversary of the birth of Walter Reed, the center became the Walter Reed Army Medical Center (WRAMC). The Army acquired the Forest Glen Annex in Maryland in 1942 for use as a convalescent center for World War II patients. The original Forest Glen buildings were built for the National Park Seminary, a women’s school (later National Park College). The Armed Forces Institute of Pathology (AFIP), with the National Museum of Health and Medicine, were co-located at the Center before the Base Realignment and Closure proposal for 2005. BRAC included a realignment of the WRAMC campus that had as one element the disestablishment of AFIP with relocation of its "military relevant functions" and the movement of the National Museum of Health and Medicine to Forest Glen. The Army Medical School is now the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research and moved to Forest Glen in 1999.

Series Scope and Content Note: The collection contains material collected over time by Otis Historical Archives and items transferred from the WRAMC Public Affairs Office. Series are divided by subject, donation source, and type of material and wherever possible reflect the original organization of the material at the time of donation. Items of note in the collection include brochures, publications, and ephemera from various WRAMC service providers; press releases; photographs; material from the Army’s Prosthetics Research Laboratory; a two-volume book of photomicrographs documenting the pathology of the eye; copies of Stripe (originally Service Stripe), the WRAMC staff newspaper; the Army School of Nursing’s annuals/yearbooks from the 1920s; scrapbooks and photographs from the Army Community Service organization; a limited number of films documenting the early development of the microscope, events and ceremonies at WRAMC, and research conducted at AFIP; and bound copies of the patient-produced newspaper The Comeback.
SERIES 001: OTIS ARCHIVES COLLECTED MATERIAL

This series includes materials which have been organized alphabetically by subject and include correspondence, reports, speeches, brochures, publications by WRAMC, directories, WRAMC catalogues, regulations, unpublished reports and internal memoranda and administrative files, and newsclippings (Box 001-Box 009 and Oversized Box 034).

SERIES 002: PUBLIC AFFAIRS OFFICE MATERIAL

The WRAMC Public Affairs Office (PAO) transferred these materials to the NMHM in 1990. Files are organized according to their original alphabetical labels. Items include press releases, clippings, photographs, internal publications, reports, and memoranda (Box 010).

SERIES 003: PHOTOGRAPHS AND SLIDES

This series includes photographs and slides from a variety of sources and is arranged in the following categories: 1) Buildings and Grounds; 2) People, Activities and Events; 3) PAO and Stripe Photographs; and 4) WRAMC Historical Collections Slides (Box 011-Box 017 and Oversized Box 034).

SERIES 004: U.S. ARMY PROSTHETICS RESEARCH LAB

A program was established at the end of World War II under the sponsorship of the Armed Services and the Veterans Administration and was later implemented on a permanent basis to authorize annual expenditures for the development of improved prosthetic devices as part of what came to be known as the Artificial Limb Program. This work involved the cooperation of several scientific disciplines and organizations, including the Army Prosthetics Research Laboratory at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. This series consists primarily of schematic drawings of prosthetic devices and components completed from the late 1940s until the early 1970s at the APRL. The series includes approximately 1500 drawings transferred from the US Army Medical Bioengineering Research and Development Laboratory (Box 018-Box 19 and oversize material in flat file storage).

SERIES 005: PATHOLOGY OF THE EYE PHOTOMICROGRAPHS

This series consists of two volumes of photomicrographs titled Pathology of the Eye, photographed and arranged by Helenor Campbell (1895-1998). Campbell's 33-year career at the Army Medical Museum began in December 1920 when she was recruited by the museum's curator, George C. Callender. Campbell was the histopathology technician assigned to work with Callender to staff the newly inaugurated Section on Ophthalmic and Otolaryngologic Pathology. During the 1920s and 1930s she absorbed an exceptional understanding of ocular histology and pathology through her daily interactions with such outstanding military pathologists as Callender, James Ash, and Elbert DeCoursey. She also collaborated with Ash and DeCoursey in selecting and preparing illustrations for the first 3 editions of the Atlas of Ophthalmic Pathology. Campbell made more than 35 scholarly contributions to the scientific literature in 17 different refereed publications (Box 020-Box 021).

SERIES 006: ARMY SCHOOL OF NURSING ANNUALS

In 1918, during the height of World War I, the Army School of Nursing was authorized by the Secretary of War as an alternative to utilizing nurses' aides in Army hospitals. Courses of instruction opened at several Army hospitals in July 1918. In December 1918, there were 1,578 students in the program. By 1923, the school had been consolidated at Walter Reed General Hospital. It was discontinued by the Secretary of War on 12 August 1931 as an economy measure. A total of 937 young women completed the course in nursing and received the diploma of the school. The Lamp and the Caduceus, written by Marlette Conde, a graduate of the school, was published in 1975 and describes the beginning, progress, and closing of the Army School of Nursing. This series includes annuals/yearbooks from the school for the following years: 1921 (2), 1923, 1925-1927, 1929 (2), and 1930-1931 (Box 022-Box 023).

SERIES 007: STRIPE—WRAMC STAFF NEWSPAPER

The Stripe (originally Service Stripe) was a staff newspaper that covered military society and culture and ceased publication in August 2011. It served Walter Reed Army Medical Center and the Forest Glen Annex and was part of Comprint Military Publications. Stories about the Museum were regular features in Stripe, so the newspaper also effectively documents some of the major developments in the history of the museum over time. This series includes copies from 1980 to 2010. (Box 024-Box 028)

SERIES 008: ARMY COMMUNITY SERVICE PHOTOGRAPHS AND SCRAPBOOKS

Following a staff study made in April 1965, at the request of the Surgeon General, WRAMC Army Community Service was established by General Orders in March 1966. ACS provided information, guidance, and referral to the WRAMC community and was active in crisis intervention. Staff promoted close liaison with all WRAMC offices and referrals were made by Troop Command, JAG, Army Health Nurses, Red Cross, NP Outpatient Clinic, etc. The Volunteer program was initiated in December 1966 at a meeting of the women representing all WRAMC units, all women’s clubs and including the wives of the Surgeon General and the CGs of WRAMC and WRGH. This series consists of scrapbooks and images from photo albums collected over the course of ACS history from 1965 to 2005. (Box 029-Box 033)

SERIES 009: GUESTBOOKS

This series consists of two guest books used at WRAMC from ca. 1960-1989.

SERIES 010: FILMS

The films in this series document the early development of the microscope, events and ceremonies at WRAMC, and research conducted at AFIP. Unfortunately, at the present time these films have not been digitized and remain in their original format, in some cases without sound. (Box 034)

SERIES 011: COMEBACK NEWSPAPERS

Four bound volumes of the Come-back (aka Comeback), the Walter Reed newspaper produced by patients for patients, during and immediately after World War I, including the first edition from December 1918. Four volumes (very fragile, brittle condition) cover the period from 1918-1921. (Oversized material in flat file storage)
